

Unemployment Insurance and COVID-19

Revised July 2020

WHAT IS UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE?

If you are not working or have lost hours of work due to COVID-19, and if you qualify, you may apply for unemployment insurance. Unemployment insurance provides temporary income for eligible workers who lose their jobs through no fault of their own. Even if your employer has told you that you will return to work in the future, you may qualify for benefits during the time that you are not working.

On March 30th, a new law was passed that expands unemployment benefits during the COVID-19 pandemic. We'll review these expansions and how they can be applied to your situation below.

Every state in the U.S. has its own unemployment system with its own eligibility rules. If you work in New York State, the New York Department of Labor decides whether you qualify and determines how much you will receive in weekly benefits.<sup>1</sup>

Do I have to pay back to the government for my unemployment benefits in the future?

NO. Unemployment insurance is a benefit that workers get after they have worked for a sufficient time in the U.S. Although you must pay taxes on the unemployment benefits you receive, you will not have to return what you receive to the government in the future or pay any fees.

Do unemployment benefits make me a public charge?

NO. Unemployment insurance is not a benefit that the government considers when determining whether you are a public charge or not.

AM I ELIGIBLE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT?

REGULAR UNEMPLOYMENT

Currently, you are eligible for regular unemployment if you meet the following four requirements:

1. You lost your most recent job through no fault of your own
  - For example, you cannot work because

<sup>1</sup> If you live in New York State but work in another state such as New Jersey or Pennsylvania, you should apply for unemployment in the state in which you work.

- You or someone in your household was diagnosed with COVID-19 or shows some symptoms of COVID-19
- You are caring for a child whose school or child care center (e.g., daycare or nursery) is closed due to COVID-19
- You are restricted by an official quarantine order or a doctor has advised you to self-quarantine due to COVID-19, and you cannot work from home
- This may also include situations in which you resign for good cause:
  - For example, your employer denied you accommodations (e.g., a change of schedule, or provision of safety equipment) that you requested because you or a member of your household has an increased risk of COVID-19 due to an underlying health condition
- This requirement does NOT include cases where
  - You were fired due to poor performance
  - You can still work from your home (or "telework")
  - You are receiving sick pay or other paid leave

2. You lost all or some of your working hours

- You can qualify for unemployment benefits even if you work part-time. You can receive partial benefits for each week in which you:
  - work less than four days in the week, and
  - earn less than $504 (the maximum you can receive in weekly benefits)
- NOTE: All work, even a few minutes a day, is considered a day's work. For each day you work in a given week, the amount of your benefit will be reduced by 25% for that week.
  - 1 working day in a given week = 75% of your benefit amount
  - 2 working days in a given week = 50% of your benefit amount
  - 3 working days in a given week = 25% of your benefit amount

3. You are available and able to work and are actively looking for work

- Work authorization
  - To be considered "available" for work, you need to have had work authorization for the last 12-18 months of work, when you apply for unemployment benefits, and throughout the time in which you are receiving unemployment benefits.
  - If your work permit expired or was revoked, you would no longer be eligible to receive unemployment benefits.
  - NOTE: If you are undocumented but authorized to work, you should have a legal consultation to determine if you are eligible. For example, people with DACA are eligible
  - for unemployment if they have current work authorization.
- Job Search
  - Under normal circumstances, you have to provide documentation to the Department of Labor each week certifying that you are able to work and are actively looking for work. However, during the COVID-19 pandemic, this requirement seems to be relaxed somewhat given the general lack of work.

4. Have worked enough weeks and earned enough wages in the last 12-18 months

- This requirement can be a bit complicated. Simply put, it's worth applying for unemployment benefits if:
  - You've worked for at least a few months over the past 12-18 months, AND
  - You've earned at least $3,900 during that same period, AND
  - You meet the other requirements detailed above.
- If the Department of Labor needs more information or denies your application for lack of sufficient work, you should consult an attorney.

“PANDEMIC UNEMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE” (PUA)

If you are NOT eligible for regular unemployment, you may still be eligible for unemployment through a new program called "Pandemic Unemployment Assistance" (PUA).

You may be eligible for PUA if you are unable to work AND are

- self-employed
- an independent contractor (i.e., receive a 1099 instead of a W2), OR
- have not worked for sufficient time or earned enough wages in the last four quarters (see the fourth eligibility requirement above).

Attention! - For PUA, you still have to be willing and able to work, i.e. have work authorization (see third eligibility requirement above)

WHAT ARE OTHER CHANGES TO UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS DURING THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC?

- You can apply for unemployment benefits immediately after losing your job.
  - New York State has suspended a rule that requires applicants to wait 7 days before claiming unemployment. This means that if you apply for unemployment benefits and are found eligible, you will receive benefits for the first week of your unemployment.
- You will receive unemployment benefits retroactively, from the time your employment ends.
  - For example, if your job ended on March 15, but you were not able to submit your application for unemployment until April 15, and you were determined to be eligible on April 30, your weekly benefits will go back to March 15 to cover all of the weeks for which you were unable to work.
- You can receive benefits for a longer period of time.
  - From now through December 31, 2020, you can receive benefits for an additional 13 weeks, on top of the maximum 26 weeks of benefits in New York. That amounts to 39 weeks of unemployment benefits in total.
- You will receive an increase in your benefit amount by $600 per week through the last full week of July 2020.

HOW CAN I APPLY?

- Each state administers its own unemployment program with its own rules for applying for benefits.
  - You must apply in the state where you work, even if you live in another state.
  - If you worked in multiple states, you can apply for unemployment in any of those states.
- Currently, the New York Department of Labor (NYSDOL) has a streamlined application with questions about both regular unemployment and PUA. After submitting the application, the NYSDOL will first determine if you qualify for regular unemployment, and if not, if you qualify for PUA.

CHECK LIST

Before starting the application, you should collect and have in hand the following information:

- ☐ Your social security number
- ☐ Your New York State (NYS) driver's license number, the number on your NYS non-driver identification card, or the number on your idNYC
- ☐ Gross earnings (before deductions) for each calendar quarter<sup>2</sup> of work since January 2019.
  - ☐ Your gross earnings should be listed on your W2 form
  - ☐ If you don't have a W2, you can find your 2019 gross earnings on your last pay stub of the year
  - ☐ If you don't have pay stubs or a W2, you may be able to estimate your gross earnings by multiplying the hours you worked each week by your regular hourly wage.
- ☐ If you have them, your 2019 W2 and/or pay stubs from your last 18 months of work
- ☐ The name of all your employers from the last 18 months
- ☐ The full address and zip code of all your employers from the last 18 months
- ☐ The Employer Identification Number ('EIN' or 'FEIN') for all of your employers from the last 18 months
  - ☐ NOTE: the EIN should be listed on your W2 or pay stubs
- ☐ Your personal contact information
  - ☐ Phone number
  - ☐ Full address and postal code
  - ☐ Email where you can receive mail
- ☐ If you are not a citizen, your "A-Number"
  - ☐ NOTE: your A-number is the eight or nine-digit number that begins with the letter A and that appears on your green card, work authorization document, or visa.
- ☐ If you have a bank account, your routing number and account number so that you can receive your benefit payments by direct deposit
  - ☐ NOTE: on a personal check, there should be at the bottom of the check the routing number for your bank followed by your personal account number.

<sup>2</sup> A "calendar quarter" is a period of three consecutive months starting on one of January 1, April 1, July 1 or October 1 of each year.

BY PHONE OR ONLINE?

- If possible, it is better to apply for unemployment benefits online instead of by phone because of the high volume of calls that the NYSDOL is currently receiving.
- If you don't have a computer, you can still apply online using a smartphone.

BY PHONE

- TIP: Because there are so many people calling the number right now, it is difficult to receive a response. Our suggestion is to call very early in the morning, and be very patient and keep calling until someone answers.
- The number to complete the application is 888-209-8124.
  - There are translation services. Use the keypad on your phone to enter the number of the language you want to choose and a recorded voice will offer you the options.
- Since so many people are unemployed right now, the NYSDOL is currently overwhelmed by the number of applications it has received. Consequently, the NYSDOL is asking people to apply for unemployment benefits based on their last names:
  - Monday: Last names beginning with the letters A-F can apply
  - Tuesday: Last names beginning with the letters G-N
  - Wednesday: Last names beginning with the letters O-Z
  - Thursday to Sunday: people who were unable to apply Monday-Wednesday
- The NYSDOL has also extended its hours for receiving applicant calls:
  - Monday through Thursday 8am - 7:30 pm;
  - Friday 8am - 6pm;
  - Saturday and Sunday 7:30 am - 8pm.
- Hearing Impaired Individuals: You should call 888-662-1220 first and ask to call the Telephone Request Center at 888-783-1370.
- If you have lost your PIN, call 888-209-8124 to request a new PIN.
- TIP: If your workplace is closed due to COVID-19, the option you should select as the reason why you are currently out of work is "lack of work."

WHAT ELSE SHOULD I DO AFTER COMPLETING MY APPLICATION?

Some claimants should receive a callback within 72 hours

- After completing your application, you may be notified that you will be receiving a call from the NYSDOL to finish your application. Applicants should be receiving these follow-up calls within 72 hours of submitting their application.
  - If at any point in the application process it has been recommended that you call a specialist to complete your claim, call 888-209-8124 as soon as possible. Keep calling back, even if you are disconnected or if no one answers.
  - Otherwise, you should wait for the NYSDOL to call you. If you miss the call, the NYSDOL says that they will call you back at a later time.
    - NOTE: It is possible that the NYSDOL will call you from an unknown number. They may ask you for personal information, such as your Social Security Number. If the call is legitimate, the caller will know the date you submitted your application and will provide that information before asking you to answer any personal questions. If they do not have the date of your application, it may be a scam and you should NOT share personal information with the caller.

9 Cosas que debe hacer cuando solicita beneficios del seguro de desempleo

- 1. Reporte cada día que trabaje. Debe reportar cada día que trabaje cuando solicita sus beneficios semanales del seguro de desempleo (UI, por sus siglas en inglés). Esto incluye empleos a medio tiempo, temporales o sin goce de haber.
- 2. Sea preciso. Lea detenidamente todas las cartas que el Departamento de Trabajo le envíe. Siga las instrucciones y devuelva todos los formularios tan pronto como sea posible. Esto ayudará a evitar demoras en los pagos del UI.
- 3. Esté disponible para trabajar. Debe estar a disponible para aceptar un empleo de inmediato. Todas las semanas debe verificar haber estado preparado, dispuesto y disponible para trabajar.
- 4. Busque empleo. Debe buscar empleo todas las semanas y mantener un registro por escrito de todos los empleadores a los que contacte. Necesario ver las actividades de búsqueda de trabajo.
- 5. Haga un plan de búsqueda de empleo. Contacte uno de los centros One-Stop Career Center para que lo ayuden a planificar su búsqueda de empleo. Visite www.labor.ny.gov para encontrar su centro más cercano. También puede llamar al 1-800-447-3992. Elija su idioma y la opción 3.
- 6. Deje de reclamar beneficios tan pronto como vuelva a trabajar. No espere a recibir su primer pago. Usted ya no es elegible para recibir beneficios cuando comienza a trabajar a tiempo completo. Puede ser elegible para recibir beneficios parciales si encuentra un trabajo a medio tiempo.
- 7. Lea su Manual del Reclamante. Este le indica sobre sus derechos y responsabilidades al cobrar UI. También indica beneficios y servicios adicionales que puede obtener. Puede encontrar el manual en nuestro sitio web.
- 8. Evite el fraude al UI. Haga lo correcto y siga las normas cuando reciba beneficios. Si no sigue las normas, podría enfrentar serias consecuencias legales.
- 9. Si no sabe algo, pida ayuda. Hay representantes del UI a disposición para ayudarlo. Llame al 1-888-209-8124 o visite nuestro sitio web para encontrar respuestas.
